glossary of words used in the refreshed common induction standards

Additional guidance is given alongside the standards to explain some words and terminology used. However below are additional explanations relating to other terms referred to within the context of the standards.

| Words used about people | |
|---|--|
| Individual(s) | The person or people receiving care or support. |
| Manager/Line Manager | The person who is directly responsible for supervising a worker, or who has responsibility for a workplace where one or more workers may visit or work. Looking at all the new work roles emerging in adult social care, this role might include someone (e.g. an individual receiving direct payments) instructing a personal assistant or a volunteer. |
| Carers | “A carer spends a significant proportion of their life providing unpaid support to family or potentially friends. This could be caring for a relative, partner or friend who is ill, frail, disabled or has mental health or substance misuse problems.” (Source: Carers at the Heart of the 21st Century, DH 2008) |
| Worker | Anyone who has a role caring for or supporting one or more individuals, having been recruited to that role through a social care sector organisation or an individual. A worker may be a paid employee, self-employed or a volunteer. |
| Words used about work and work documents | |
| Advance Care Planning | The process of identifying future individual wishes and care preferences. This may or may not result in the recording these discussions in the form of an Advance Care Plan. |
| Care plan | A required document that sets out in detail the way daily care and support must be provided to an individual. Care plans may also be known as ‘plans of support’, ‘individual plans’, etc. |
| Continuing Professional Development (CPD) | An ongoing and planned learning process that contributes to personal and professional development and can be applied or assessed against competences and organisational performance. This can include the development of new knowledge, skills and competences. Comprehensive induction can be viewed as the initial building block of an ongoing CPD process. Skills for Care provides CPD support to adult social care employers and workers. |
| Functional skills / Skills for Life | These terms refer to the skills of reading, writing and handling numbers in various forms and at various levels. “Skills for Life” is the term used for ‘entry level’ skills, but you may find these terms used loosely and interchangeably. Considerable funding and support is available to help staff with these skills needs. See the Skills for Care website www.skillsforcare.org.uk/skillsforlife or www.scie-careskillsbase.org.uk for more details of essential resources in this area. |

| Person-centred approaches | Approaches to care planning and support which empower individuals to make the decisions about what they want to happen in their lives. These decisions then form the basis for any plans that are developed and implemented. |
| Personal development plan | This may have a different name but essentially it is a required document drawn up by a worker and line manager, setting out the learning needs, activities and qualification opportunities agreed as a route to develop the worker's knowledge and skills over a stated period. |
| Self care | Common Core Principles to Support Self Care – www.skillsforcare.org.uk/selfcare |
| Whistle blowing | Raising concerns with appropriate authorities about the way care and support is being provided, such as practices that are dangerous, abusive, discriminatory or exploitative. |
| Words used about levels of knowledge | |
| Be aware of | To know that something exists (e.g. legislation about promoting equal rights), and what it is concerned with at a general level rather than in detail. |
| Know / know how to | To have a clear and practical understanding of an area of work, with enough detail to be able to carry out any tasks or procedures linked with it. |
| Understand | To grasp the meaning of a concept and to grasp its broad purpose and principles (such as with legislation, policies and procedures). |
| Recognise | To understand a concept (e.g. equal opportunities) and how it affects the way work is carried out in practice |

Glossary of words used in the Common Induction Standards

| Words used about people | |
|---|--|
| Individual(s) | The person or people receiving care or support. |
| Manager/Line Manager | The person who is directly responsible for supervising a worker, or who has responsibility for a workplace where one or more workers may visit or work. Looking at all the new work roles emerging in the social care sector this role might include someone (e.g. an individual receiving direct payments) instructing a personal assistant or a volunteer. |
| Significant others | Those, other than workers, who are significant to the person receiving care or support. These are likely to include family members, friends, and others in a person's local community or network. |
| Unpaid carers | Anyone who has a role caring for or supporting one or more individuals, having acquired that role by virtue of their relationship to that person. Unpaid carers are frequently family members. |
| Worker | Anyone who has a role caring for or supporting one or more individuals, having been recruited to that role through a social care sector organisation or an individual. A worker may be a paid employee, self-employed or a volunteer. |
| Words used about work and work documents | |
| Active listening | The process of actively seeking to understand the meaning of another person's communication, whether the communication is spoken or conveyed in a different way. Active listening includes the use of verbal and non-verbal skills (and may also involve use of technological or other aids). |
| Care plan | A required document that sets out in detail the way daily care and support must be provided to an individual. Care plans may also be known as 'plans of support', 'individual plans', etc. |
| Continuing Professional Competence (CPC) | The maintenance or updating of knowledge, skills and competence to keep abreast of good practice and changes in legislation (e.g. the need to update or refresh your First Aid course every three years). |
| Continuing Professional Development (CPD) | An ongoing and planned learning process that contributes to personal and professional development and can be applied or assessed against competences and organisational performance. This can include the development of new knowledge, skills and competences. Comprehensive induction can be viewed as the initial building block of an ongoing CPD process. Skills for Care is developing a CPD strategy for the social care sector. |
| Skills for Life / Essential Skills / Basic Skills / Key Skills | All of these terms refer to the skills of reading, writing and handling numbers in various forms and at various levels. "Skills for Life" is now the official term used by the Skills for Business network for 'entry level' skills, but you may find these terms used loosely and interchangeably (strictly speaking they are not interchangeable). Considerable funding and support is available to help staff with these skill deficits. See the Skills for Care website www.skillsforcare.org.uk for more details. |
| Healthcare procedures/tasks | Procedures of a medical nature, carried out by workers or unpaid carers, as part of a person's care or treatment. These may include tasks relating to colostomy, catheter, peg feeding, injections, etc. |
| Person-centred approaches | Approaches to care planning and support which empower individuals to make the decisions about what they want to happen in their lives. These decisions then form the basis for any plans that are developed and implemented. |

| Personal development plan | A required document drawn up by a worker and line manager, setting out the learning needs, activities and qualification opportunities agreed as a route to develop the worker's knowledge and skills over a period of time. |
| Safe care | Care and support provided by workers who have the knowledge and skills to carry out their responsibilities safely. This includes workers knowing what their own responsibilities are and where the limits of their capabilities and responsibilities lie. |
| Safe to leave | The definition of 'safe to leave' may change according to the context and circumstances. Managers may find it useful to use a 'skills scan' device—a tool to help them define 'safe to leave' in relation to any one worker and any one job role. Ultimately, the manager is responsible for the definition. S/he should use a risk assessment in relation to a worker's capabilities and the specific tasks required by the job role. Induction should cover all those things a worker needs to know/be able to do to be safe to leave alone in their particular context. If the worker needs to know more than the common induction standards provide, then essential additional learning must be provided (e.g. using moving and handling equipment or handling medications), before the worker undertakes these tasks alone. The manager might decide that one worker can do most things alone, but that certain more specialist tasks should be supervised until appropriate learning has taken place and been assessed. A successfully completed induction may provide another worker with everything that is needed at that point. Similarly, one worker may be assessed as being safe to leave alone with help at the end of a phone, or in another building, whereas another might be assessed as needing line of sight supervision, at least for certain tasks. Managers will always need to take into account and make a judgement about a worker's spoken English, literacy and numeracy in relation to their ability to safely undertake given tasks. |
| Whistle blowing | Raising concerns about the way care and support is being provided, such as practices that are dangerous, abusive, discriminatory or exploitative. |
| Words used about levels of knowledge | |
| Be aware of | To know that something exists (e.g. legislation about promoting equal rights), and what it is concerned with at a general level rather than in detail. |
| Know / know how to | To have a clear and practical understanding of an area of work, with enough detail to be able to carry out any tasks or procedures linked with it. |
| Understand | To grasp the meaning of a concept and to grasp its broad purpose and principles (such as with legislation, policies and procedures). |
| Recognise | To understand a concept (e.g. equal opportunities) and how it affects the way work is carried out in practice |

The use of this certificate is a requirement in registered services. In unregistered services its use is evidence of good practice and compliance with the GSCC Codes of Practice by the worker and employers.

As this certificate template is freely downloadable from Skills for Care's website, it is important to complete all of these fields to identify as clearly as possible the particular worker to whom it relates.

1. The certificate should be signed and a copy kept by the manager, with the complete original given back to the worker for their future use and to be added to as needed. Certificates are not collected by Skills for Care.

2. Certification of successful completion of further learning required at induction to enable the worker to carry out essential specific tasks not covered by the Common Induction Standards. (The worker may be given further copies of this sheet, to allow for more tasks.)

3. Manager's acceptance of evidence to support prior learning or skill

If a new worker already has appropriate evidence of prior learning or skill covering the induction standards, it is then only necessary for that worker to complete those induction standards which are specific to the new workplace. The manager should then complete part 3 of the confirmation. Examples of certificates / qualifications which might be relevant here are those covering skills (e.g. NVQs in Care, minibus driving licence, food preparation, moving and handling, first aid, medication, use of hoists or other equipment, ability to use BSL or Makaton) or knowledge (e.g. food hygiene, LDAF, Certificated Induction, health & safety etc).

3. I certify that I have seen and accepted original certification relating to the above named worker covering the following knowledge and/or skills.
